

My wife and I listen to XM radio whenever we want a quite time with easy listning that is uninterrupted. This is a paid subscription and I do not understand why the commercial stations are attempting to shut them down. Perhaps they just cannot handle the competition. It would be a disaster to the listening public if they succeed T. H. Martin